A "White House value" has a significance of its own. In some instances, it means an article that is sold exclusively by us. In others, it means an article offered at a price concession that could hardly be duplicated elsewhere in El Paso. The full advent of spring and the early approach of Easter cause us to present today an unusually attractive array of items. Particular attention is directed to the item in millinery, one of the most unusual you ever had opportunity to take advantage of.
